

The Mennonite Centre Heritage Club presents...

The Status of the Design Argument

Owen Gingerich

In his continuing series of talks on science and religion, Ed Bergen will present the ideas of Owen Gingerich, a science historian and astronomer. In his books “God’s Planet” and “God’s Universe”, Gingerich raises profound questions. Are we, as many scientists contend, here by chance, or does the same scientific evidence prove the planning of a Creator-God? Can we separate science and religion, or are the two spheres interrelated?

Owen Gingerich is professor emeritus at Harvard University. He was born to a Mennonite family and grew up in Kansas. A committed Christian, he is active in a society of evangelical scientists.
